

From the Railway Station to The Castle Inn, by taxi and/or bus

If you don't want to walk from the Railway Station to the Castle Inn, you have two options:

Take a taxi or Take a bus.

Taxis are right in front of the station but usually you'll have to queue up.

In a straight line, the distance to the pub is less than 2 miles, taking a taxi will cost you something around 5 pounds, I guess. It'll get you to the pub in less than 15 minutes.

I would prefer this over all the hassle with buses (they can get stuck in traffic jams, too).

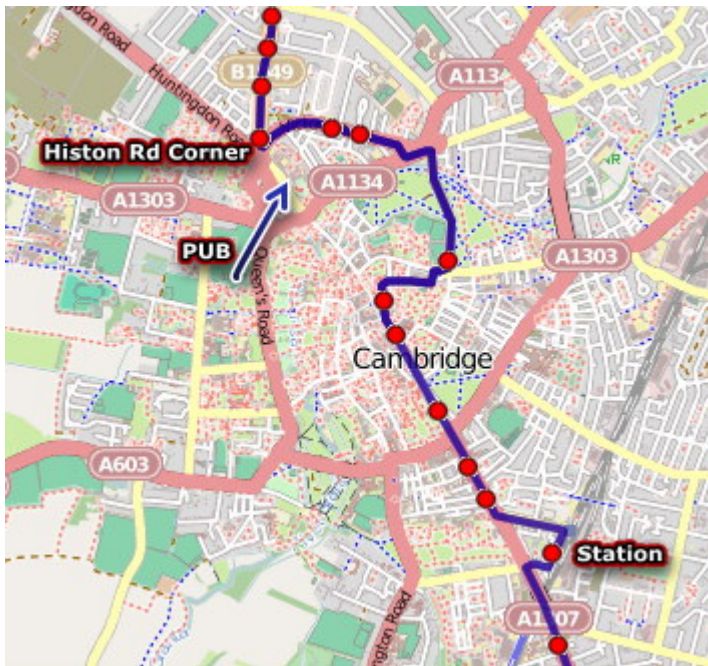

But if you really want to take a bus be aware that most buses only go to the city centre.

The area around Cambridge Railway Station is currently a bit messy because of (re)development projects. But there are a few bus stops. After leaving the railway station go to the left to find these bus stops. Buses to the city centre depart at the opposite side of the road.

There is only one bus service that'll get you near the Castle Inn:

City 8 (Cottenham).

It departs from the Railway Station (to the left, opposite side) at .01 .21 and .41, taking you to Histon Road Corner in about 20 minutes. The third stop after crossing the River Cam.

From there walk back in the direction the city centre (SE)

After a few minutes you will find the Castle Inn pub on your left.

Alternatively, you can undertake a combined bus/taxi or bus/walk journey.

From the Railway Station the following lines go the city centre (where you must get off the bus):

- City 1 (Arbury)
- City 3 (Fison Road)
- City 7 (Cambridge)

They all take about 10-15 minutes, depending on the traffic, to get to Emmanuel Street (where the city's Bus Station is). After you've passed John Lewis on your left, the bus turns right into a street where there are a lot of bus stops.

The bus will always stop here, so nothing can go wrong.

From here you can either walk to Castle Street which takes about another 10-15 minutes or you can take a taxi (within 5 minutes or so).

- (1) For a taxi, walk back in the direction of John Lewis then turn right into a street with the Post Office on your right. A minute later you'll find taxi stands on your left.

- (2) If you prefer to walk from here (which will take about 10-15 minutes), please follow the instructions in the pdf 'From the Railway Station to The Castle Inn, on foot'
